A GRADED LIST

OF

SUPPLEMENTARY READING BOOKS

PREPARED FOR THE ELEMENTARY
SCHOOLS OF ONTARIO

ONTARIO

TORONTO

Printed and Published by the Printer to the King's Most Excellent Majesty

1929

INTRODUCTION

The library of every school or class-room should contain a variety of books sufficient to enable each pupil in each Form to find throughout the school year a constant supply of interesting books new to him. The courses of study require that the subject of supplementary reading receive attention in class, and at seats in all the grades. "The material in the School Readers should be supplemented in each Form by a wide range of good books adapted to the interests and capacities of the pupils. Sets of books sufficient in number for class use should, where possible, be provided in the school library."—Courses of Study, 1924, page 9.

A test of many of the libraries in rural schools indicates that many of the books are not suitable for pupils of elementary grades; and few of the libraries contain an adequate supply of good reading material for Primer, First Reader, and Second Reader classes. Since the most elementary books may be easily read with interest by senior pupils, it is better that a library should have an over supply for the junior classes than that much of the material should be for seniors only.

Teachers and boards are urged to see to it that the library is made a very important part of the school equipment, and that it is fully used by the pupils for seat work and for home reading.

The pupils of the lowest classes should have good stories read to them in school and at home, in order that their curiosity and interest in books should be aroused sufficiently to urge them to read for pleasure. Then their own reading, with proper guidance, will develop a taste for what is good, and they will, without much direction, become very expressive readers. This wider reading will result in improving the pupils in composition, both oral and written.

For the beginners, nursery rhyme and other picture books with a small amount of text are the best. Those with well-coloured pictures which tell the story should be selected. For example, Old Mother Hubbard, with a picture for each stanza, is a fine book for children before they are able to read very well. Illustrated books should be chosen wherever possible.

Each school library should receive an annual addition in order that it may contain copies of the most recent good books. A careful inventory should be made by the teacher and inspector each year, so that worn out and useless material may be discarded. One copy of this list should be filed in each school.
